Dear Sir/Madam

I refer to the above application. I have now received amended plans/an amended description of development.

How do I view the amendments?

If amended plans or other documents have been submitted you can view these at www.northwarks.gov.uk/planningappsearch. If only the description has been amended, this is stated above and no new items will be available.

How do I comment on the amendments?

You may comment at www.northwarks.gov.uk/planningappsearch. I would like to receive any comments in writing before 26/10/2024.

If you decide to write, your response will become a public document, capable of being seen by the applicant and others. We require contact information such as your name, address, telephone number and email address, however, we will take measures to redact this personal data ahead of any form of communication of your comments with others (in compliance with the provisions of the General Data Protection Regulations). You may wish to take care to exclude any other identifying personal data in the comments that you make because these will not be redacted by the planning authority on a routine basis. If the provision of personal data is necessary in order to make your point about the development proposed you are invited to supply two copies of the document – one copy with the text in full and one abbreviated or redacted copy, which is to the like effect, that may be shared in the public domain.
